Hello GridBeyond team,

Thank you for the opportunity to put myself forward for Head of Portfolio, UK & Ireland. The line about data centres and AI infrastructure is what made me stop on this one. That corner of the energy transition needs someone who can hold both halves of the conversation.

Most of the seat is growing a live portfolio, so I will start there. At Brightcove I owned the Asia region and took it from ~$4M to ~$11.5M ARR.

Most of that came from inside existing accounts: average account value went from $40K to $250K+ ACV as customers took on more sites and more business units. That is share of wallet, done systematically.

Firstly - partnerships, since they are half of this job. At Brightcove I recruited 15+ ISV and agency partners and that channel drove 35% of regional pipeline. For a small Australian IoT company I signed Roche Diagnostics, an $80B regulated business, and turned it into an exclusive global reseller agreement, seven figures over a three-year minimum.

It stalled in their legal/compliance review. I kept Roche's commercial sponsors visible so the process carried business pressure, whilst holding our founder firm on exclusivity and the minimum. It produced NHS sales and a 10-year contract with OLVG.

On the technical half, I am an electronic engineer by training and I still build. I ship production AI software: LLM applications on the Claude API, a remote MCP server.

For a company whose product is AI-driven optimisation and whose next market is AI infrastructure, I would go as far to say that matters more than it usually would in a commercial hire. I can talk grid connection, power availability and cost/resilience with an infrastructure buyer.

To be clear on the working shape: UK/Australian, based in Valencia, fully remote, engaged through a non-Spanish entity, and happy to be in the UK/Ireland on a regular cadence. I have run a business across borders and time zones from a 40-foot boat, so remote is simply how I work.

Happy to hop on a call to talk through any of the above, particularly the data-centre proposition.

Thanks for your time and your consideration,
Ben Morrell
