Dear Hiring Team,

I build on Vercel. My site runs on it, I ship with Next.js and the AI SDK, and I build LLM agents and MCP servers of my own. That is not the usual starting point for a partnerships hire, and it is exactly why I can help Vercel's technology and solution partners: I understand the frontend, cloud, and AI ecosystem they build in because I live in it.

Alongside that, I have spent 18+ years building partner-sourced pipeline. At Brightcove I recruited 15+ strategic ISV and agency partners and ran regional execution of the global partner program, and that channel grew to 35% of regional pipeline while I grew the region from ~$4M to ~$11.5M ARR as VP. Through revenuesystem I structured and closed strategic partner-led deals, including an exclusive global reseller agreement through the Roche Diagnostics channel and Tier-1 technology partnerships such as Aptos ($500K). I know how to turn agencies, ISVs, and SIs into real co-sell pipeline with regional sales.

Your EMEA charter is the work I know best: define the regional partner strategy, activate the right technology and solution partners, build joint GTM, and drive partner-sourced and influenced pipeline. I would bring an existing EMEA network, executive presence with alliance leaders, and the rare ability to speak credibly to both a partner's commercial team and their developers.

I'm based in Valencia and comfortable operating across EMEA. I'd welcome the chance to talk about how I'd grow Vercel's partner ecosystem in the region.

Best regards,
Ben Morrell
