Ben Morrell

Partner Ecosystem & GTM Leader — EMEA · Data & AI Platforms · AI-Native

hello@benmorrell.co · +34 711 035 948 · +44 7796 656 897 · benmorrell.co/matillion-partnerships
linkedin.com/in/morrellbc · Remote (Valencia, Spain, CET) · UK / Australian Citizen · Spain Digital Nomad Visa

Hello Matillion Talent team,

Thanks for the detail in the posting. The line about partnerships becoming a significant driver of revenue growth, rather than a programme to administer, is why I read it twice.

At Brightcove I recruited 15+ ISV/technology partners across Asia and that channel produced 35% of regional pipeline. The 35% was the number I was reviewed on. Over those years I grew the region from ~$4M to ~$11.5M ARR at 120%+ of quota, leading a 20+ person team across Singapore, Mumbai and New Delhi.

The build I would point at first is Roche. An Australian IoT company had a dormant relationship with Roche Diagnostics. I expanded it into an exclusive global reseller agreement, seven figures on a three-year minimum.

It then stalled inside Roche's Legal and Compliance review, which is where most of these die. So I kept their commercial sponsors visible to carry business pressure, whilst holding firm on exclusivity and the minimum. That channel produced multiple NHS sales and a ten-year contract with OLVG.

In terms of integrators - that is the motion I came up through. At Grass Valley I sold across 12+ Asian countries via integrators/resellers, and opening Asia-Pacific for Encoding.com I signed the region's largest SI. Before any of it I did solutions engineering inside an SI, which is the partner's side of this desk.

Maia is agentic AI, and partner engineering teams will want a real conversation about it. I build that software rather than brief it: LLM applications on the Claude API, a production remote MCP server, go-to-market automation and partner reporting dashboards.

I build the layer under a channel too. Deal registration, partner attribution, forecasting cadence.

To be clear on the gaps. I have not run a hyperscaler marketplace listing or a formal AWS/Azure co-sell programme, and data/analytics is adjacent to my background. I think the from-nothing partner build is the harder half to hire for.

One thing worth raising early - I am a UK citizen based in Valencia on CET, fully remote, and Spanish tax resident, so I am keen to know whether that runs through your UK entity or on contract.

Happy to hop on a call to talk through any of the above.

Thanks and looking forward to hearing from you,
Ben Morrell