Ben Morrell

Channel & Partnerships Leader — Global · SIs, VARs, Resellers and Consultancies · AI-Native

hello@benmorrell.co · +34 711 035 948 · +44 7796 656 897 · benmorrell.co/scout-global-channel linkedin.com/in/morrellbc · Remote (Valencia, Spain) · UK / Australian Citizen · Spain Digital Nomad Visa

Hello Kayleigh,

Thanks for putting the Global Channel Leader role out in the detail you did. One line in it is what got my attention: revenue through partners, not purely managing partner programmes.

At Brightcove I recruited 15+ ISV/agency partners across Asia and that channel drove 35% of regional pipeline. That was the number the function was run and resourced against, whilst I grew the region from ~$4M to ~$11.5M ARR.

Firstly - "turn existing partnerships into scalable, revenue-generating relationships", because I have done that one literally. An Australian IoT company had a relationship with Roche Diagnostics and not much coming out of it. I expanded it into an exclusive global reseller agreement, seven figures on a three-year minimum.

It then stalled inside Roche's Legal/Compliance review, which is where most of these die. I kept their commercial sponsors visible so the process carried business pressure, and held our side firm on exclusivity and the minimum. That channel produced NHS sales plus a ten-year contract with OLVG in the Netherlands.

In terms of the partner mix - SIs/VARs/resellers and consultancies is the motion I came up through. At Grass Valley I sold across 12+ Asian countries through integrators and resellers, and later signed APAC's largest systems integrator.

I also started out inside a systems integrator myself, which is the partner's side of this desk.

Building rather than inheriting is the part I would enjoy. I have stood up a partnerships function from nothing twice, and at Livepeer I built the commercial operating system that sits under a channel: forecasting, contracting cadence, deal registration, CRM as one source of truth.

To be clear on the gap. I have not sold Identity/IAM or cyber security, and I would be learning the domain. I think the channel build is the harder half to hire for, and a vendor mid-transformation probably needs that more than another CV with IAM on it.

One thing worth raising early, since the posting names the UK, the Netherlands and a DKK salary. I work fully remote from Valencia on CET, so I would need to understand which entity engages/contracts someone resident in Spain.

I have run a business across borders and time zones literally from a 40-foot boat. Remote is simply how I work.

Happy to hop on a call to talk through any of the above, and keen to know who the client is. CV attached.

Thanks Kayleigh,
Ben Morrell